

CFACC27

Contribute to performance management in a contact centre

Overview

What this standard is about

Efficiency and effectiveness in contact centres rely on close management of performance. With defined business objectives, clear procedures and many repeated transactions the environment is right for active performance management. Within a contact centre team you and your colleagues must share ownership of managing your own performance. Organisation systems and procedures will direct and guide how you contribute to performance management. Within a team you are expected to monitor performance, provide colleagues with feedback on performance and work with team colleagues to improve performance.

CFACC27

Contribute to performance management in a contact centre

Performance criteria

You must be able to:

Monitor individual and team performance in a contact centre

- P1 Identify organisation procedures and guidelines on monitoring performance in a contact centre team
- P2 Agree with colleagues how performance will be monitored within the team
- P3 Participate in performance monitoring activities within a contact centre team
- P4 Collate and interpret results of performance monitoring to provide individual and team feedback
- P5 Check individual objectives and development plans alongside results of performance monitoring

Provide performance feedback to individuals and teams in a contact centre

- P6 Identify performance goals relevant to individual and team performance
- P7 Use performance monitoring data to plan feedback for colleagues on performance in contact centre work
- P8 Provide individual feedback to colleagues on performance that is motivating and clearly identifies areas for improvement
- P9 Provide team feedback on performance that is motivating and clearly identifies areas for improvement
- P10 Use feedback to colleagues as part of day to day teamwork to improve performance

Work with team colleagues to improve performance in contact centre work

- P11 Contribute to the management of change within a team in contact centre operations
- P12 Take actions that balance individual, team and organisational needs
- P13 Develop individual and team understanding of how their work contributes to organisational objectives
- P14 Work with contact centre colleagues to devise strategies for dealing with more pressured work situations
- P15 Provide buddying and coaching support for colleagues seeking to improve performance in contact centre work

CFACC27

Contribute to performance management in a contact centre

CFACC27

Contribute to performance management in a contact centre

Knowledge and understanding

You need to know and understand:

- K1 The services or products offered or supported by your contact centre
- K2 Organisational requirements and external regulation and legislation that impact on contact centre operations
- K3 Organisational procedures and guidelines for the delivery of contact centre services
- K4 The importance of active performance management for achieving effectiveness and efficiency in contact centre operations
- K5 Organisational procedures and guidelines on performance monitoring
- K6 The importance of agreeing performance monitoring methods with contact centre colleagues
- K7 Techniques for collating and interpreting performance monitoring results
- K8 The links between personal development plans and use of performance monitoring data
- K9 How to plan feedback for colleagues relating to performance in contact centre work
- K10 The importance of providing feedback that is both motivational and identifies actions for performance improvement
- K11 Techniques for using feedback on performance within everyday management
- K12 Why changes in contact centre operations need to be managed
- K13 The importance of balancing team, individual and organisational objectives when improving performance in a contact centre
- K14 The causes and effects of working under pressure in contact centre operations
- K15 Strategies for helping individuals and teams to work under pressure in contact centre operations

CFACC27

Contribute to performance management in a contact centre

Developed by	CfA Business Skills @ Work
Version number	1.0
Date approved	May 2011
Indicative review date	May 2014
Validity	Current
Status	Original
Originating organisation	CfA Business Skills @ Work
Original URN	N/A
Relevant occupations	Operator, centre, contact, Adviser, Agent
Suite	Contact Centre 2011
Key words	Contact Centre, performance management, feedback, improving performance, individuals, teams