

FSP P1

Create and maintain employee records

Overview

This unit is about setting up and amending basic employee records within a payroll administration system. It involves:

- 1 setting up new employee records
- 2 implementing instructions from employees and external agencies
- 3 evaluating and processing permanent organisational variations to payroll

You need to be aware that:

The payroll function often overlaps with human resources hence the payroll system you are working with may have wider use within the organisation.
